various sources like magazines, websites, or even nature itself. Sketch out your design and make a list of the materials you'll need.

Step 2: Gathering Materials

Once you have a clear idea of your design, it's time to gather all the necessary materials. Check your list and ensure you have everything you need before getting started. It's always frustrating to realize you're missing a crucial component halfway through the process.

Step 3: Prepping the Tools

Before diving into the actual creation process, make sure your tools are clean and organized. It's crucial to have a clutter-free workspace where you can easily access your tools whenever needed. Keeping your tools tidy and in good condition will improve your productivity and make the whole process more enjoyable.
