Are you suffering from PTSD, having never stepped foot on the soil of an actual battleground? Are you struggling to find a way to get out of your own way? Believe it or not, the battlefield which leaves the longest trail of ruins is often in our minds, in our hearts. Hey Girl, you are... is a call to women everywhere, a reminder that yes it's been a hard fight, and though it's been rough, you're not in it alone. God is on your side and now you have a big mouth friend to tell you "Hey Girl, get it together, you're royalty, you deserve to live and not just exist!" God has promised us a life of fullness and we must encourage ourselves and each other so our faith is strengthened. We have to do the work and prepare ourselves to receive His vision for us as His daughters. Do you have seven days to give it your best shot, to leave it all on the table? Seven days, that's it and that's all you'll need to embark on this journey. Not 21, 30 or 365 days all at once, just seven.

I want to be clear, this is not just another devotional to leave on the shelf, it's quick and to the point. I don't have time to play religion and I'm sure you don't either. This world is a crazy place and we have to pull ourselves together if we're to do our part by sharing our gifts, which are often buried by pain, bad choices or feeling like you're just not enough. I'm not perfect by a long shot and nobody's preacher but this is my gift, sharing what God reminded me about myself after enduring many seasons of hopelessness. I'm just a sinner like everybody else graced to know Jesus is real, bold enough to tell you that He is! Thankfully, I am on a journey to become who I always was supposed to be in my Father's eyes. Because Jesus saved me, called me to remembrance of myself and inspired me to share from my personal areas of vulnerability, I hope you will join me on the journey to complete healing, from the inside out. This book is just a starting point, to remind you and assist in changing your perspective on who you are. Congratulations on your victory in advance!
